

MOW WEEKLY UPDATE!

6/21/2010

Hello MOW folks, this is your short MOW update. It has all the important information with out the extra information that is not as important but much more interesting. Enjoy

WEEK IN REVIEW:

Tuesday: There was a crew working in the shop on Tuesday. The tool rack on the MOW truck was lowered to the truck bed. The manlift was moved to Clunie, and we began to manufacture the engine shields for the tie shear.

Thursday: Sandy and Mike worked in the shops on Thursday. They did stuff but I was not there to say exactly what cool and awesome project they were working on.

Saturday: MOW was not working on this day.

WEEK AHEAD:

Tuesday: We will be working on Tuesday at the shops. We start at 3:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. Come ready to work, we have some parts for equipment in need of repair.

Thursday: More work at the shops on Thursday. We start at the shops at 5:00 p.m.

Saturday: There will be a Saturday crew. We have much to do out on the line. Start time is 8:00 a.m.

See you out on the line,

John, Chris, and Sandy
